Re: The Dangers of Microchipping Animals and the insert the Name of the Proposed or Existing Legislation here.

Please be advised that research shows there are serious health risks and other problems associated with microchipping animals. These problems include but are not limited to: cancer, neurological damage and death.

Concerns about microchipping are outlined in the attached document. The relevant governing agencies are urged to review the information and remove all clauses in the legislation that pertain to mandatory microchipping of animals.

Thank you.

Sincerely,
